PERSONAL STATEMENT:

Often, while flying and talking to other flight attendants I hear the same sentiment "We, full time line flight attendants, feel unheard and unrepresented." As time goes by, it gets harder to have a healthy balance between our professional and personal lives. I have been flying for 24 years, right in the middle of the seniority list, which puts me in the position to relate to almost everyone. One month I can hold a relatively decent schedule while the next I could be dragged onto reserve. Collectively our quality of work life have been on a rapid decline. Because of the many years ahead as a working flight attendant, listening to many of you on the jumpseat and having union experience as a former Base President while based in NY I have decided to humbly submit my candidacy to serve you as Miami Base President. Javi Rodriguez Aleman, my running mate, and I are committed to run a campaign focusing on you and your needs. My candidacy is not based on who is a better candidate, but on offering you a different approach to the many challenges we face as flight attendants while recruiting and developing future union leaders to represent us. Many of the candidates on the ballot, including myself, have vast union experience and understand the commitment of the long working hours that takes to do the job well. The question here is which candidate you feel will hear, care and understand your needs while representing you in front of management and our union on a national level. I thank you for your considering Javi and I to serve you as Base President and Vice President.

"Supporting and Caring for you across the board!"

PERSONAL STATEMENT:

I have worked at APFA during the most challenging times. The early 2000's restructuring pay reductions and contractual changes were quite stressful for all of us. In the late 2000's, we were battling for a new contract during a lengthy and stagnant period. During the past 6 years, I found other ways to assist our workgroup. I first worked as a FOI specialist and helped flight attendants learn the new systems like TTS, ETB, ROTA, TBS and VMS. Then, for the next two years, I worked at FABRC. The most common assist at FABRC was with PBS, but we also helped with all the other new systems.

As spring 2023 approaches, this will be another time of stress for us. We are in an unfriendly worker environment as our company has been rejecting many of our negotiating team's worthy proposals. We must continue to be united to show the company that we will stand up for what is right. Since returning to the APFA contract and scheduling desks in September 2020, I have seen many examples of the company attempting to violate our contract. The key is for all of us to have the knowledge to stand up and ask questions. Here at the contract and scheduling desks, I have provided that knowledge to empower our fellow flight attendants. Let us continue towards that path of knowledge, empowerment and unity.

Thank you,

Kevin Johnson

PERSONAL STATEMENT:

Personally witnessing how incredibly resilient our base has been as we continue to rebound from the pandemic, I believe we have the best base in the system. It has been an honor to serve as your Base President. I have the desire and dedication to continue serving in that role for the next two years, and I'm up to the challenge.

The most important aspect of being a Base President is to be available to the members. Base work is not a 9-5, weekends off job. Scheduling questions regarding illegalities, determining on-duty maximums, and other issues often occur late at night and on weekends and holidays. I have never considered base work as a job with "business hours." I have always made every effort to be available when you call, and will continue to do so if reelected.

Investigative meetings, whether performance or attendance, require a union representative who possesses thorough knowledge of Company policies and your Contractual rights. I can assure you with my representation you will never walk into a meeting unprepared, and I will guarantee that your right to due process will always be protected.

We are long overdue for a new Contract that includes substantial improvements to wages, 401k contributions, reserve quality of life, and overall working conditions. If elected, you can count on me to make sure we apply the necessary pressure on the Company through membership actions and Board of Directors leadership to achieve these critical objectives. Your voices will be heard!

It will be an honor for me to once again represent you as Miami Base President. I am asking for your renewed support in having the opportunity to serve.
